

Killing Starts Rock-Tossing In Parkesburg, Pa.

PARKESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Police said a white youth shot a Negro youth to death Monday, touching off a rock-throwing demonstration by Negroes in this southeastern Pennsylvania farming community.

An angry, jeering crowd of more than 100 children and adults alike threw rocks, smashing windows of a service station where the Negro youth was killed. There were no injuries and no arrests reported, although two unidentified white youths were taken into custody and later released.

Police said Preston Ferguson, 16, was killed by a shotgun blast inside the Thomas Oil Co.

Theodore Houck, 15, who attended Oetara High School and worked at the station, was taken into custody and held on a technical charge of homicide. Police said he was being held at the Juvenile County Home in nearby West Chester for a hearing before a juvenile court judge.

Served In Cafe

Negroes started gathering outside the station about three hours after Ferguson was shot, hurling rocks and bricks at windows and at trucks parked nearby. Some Negroes tossed broken bottles at another station and a small group entered a restaurant, where they demanded, and got service. Police said the owner acknowledged he had never served Negroes there before.

Police said other Negroes, driving to the area from surrounding communities, roamed through this rural community of 2,500 in cars.

Authorities from surrounding towns arrived to reinforce the local force.

Ferguson had gone into the service station late in the afternoon and got into an argument with Houck, police said. A shotgun blast into Ferguson's stomach killed him.

"Lot Of Grievances"

One of the slain youth's schoolmates, Charlotte Harris, said Ferguson had gone into the station for a cold drink. She said she had told him, "Don't go across the street, because Teddy has a knife, but he didn't listen to me."

Frank Armstrong, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in nearby Coatesville, said, "These people demonstrated because that white boy shot a Negro boy and he thought he had a right to do it. They (Negroes) have a lot of grievances against this town. Something should be done about it."

The population of Parkesburg, which is some 60 miles west of Philadelphia, is about 10 per cent Negro.

Teachers Balk In Hamtramck

HAMTRAMCK (AP) — Some 120 of 156 schoolteachers of this Detroit suburb were expected to stay away from their teaching duties today for the second day of a sit-in demonstration for higher pay.

The teachers, members of local 1052, American Federation of Teachers, (AFT) walked off their jobs Monday. Some 4,000 students in six schools were affected.

The executive board of the local voted Monday to continue the sit-in all night. Representatives of the strikers said they expected to sit-in to continue today. Another meeting of the teachers was set for today.

The board of education Monday asked Wayne County Circuit Judge John B. Swainson to issue a restraining order to end the sit-in. Swainson, former Michigan governor, said he would not issue an order after hearing one side only.

The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday. Swainson said he would summon attorneys for both sides at that time.

Spokesman for the union said the demonstration was called to underscore AFT demands for salary increases and improved fringe benefits.

Third Victim Of Sniper Dies

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A 5-year-old boy is the third victim of a 16-year-old "extra good boy" who turned sniper, killed two motorists, wounded 11 more and then took his own life with a bullet between his eyes.

Kevin Dean Reida, shot in the head in the Sunday morning ambush, died Monday night after brain surgery at Cottage Hospital in Santa Barbara.

He died 36 hours after the attack by Michael Andrew Clark, a high school junior. Clark had run away from his Long Beach home Saturday night and wrecked the family car. Early Sunday he turned up as a sniper on a grassy hillside above U.S. 101, 60 miles north of here.

Clark used a 30-06 rifle equipped with a telescopic sight.

His mother, Joyce E. Clark, described her son as "an extra good boy" and said, "when he wrecked the car, turning off the road, perhaps he hit his head."

Million Dollar Truman Birthday Gift Approved

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — A drive is under way for a million-dollar birthday present for Harry S. Truman.

The money would finance grants at the Harry S. Truman Library Institute for students doing research on the office of the president.

The institute's directors approved the idea last week when the former president was away. Truman will be 81 on May 8.

River Boils Over Iowa-Illinois Dikes

By The Associated Press

The bloated Mississippi River churned through streets, homes and fields in Illinois and Iowa today, battering relentlessly at soggy dikes while volunteers fought the river's worst spring rampage in history.

Workers faced another day of trying to hold back the water in Burlington, Iowa. The Weather Bureau in a revised forecast said the river would crest at 22.5 feet in Burlington late Wednesday.

The Quad Cities area of Iowa and Illinois, with a population of 270,058, was hit again and again as the river bowled over levees and rushed unimpeded into cities and fields.

Burlington Levee Fails

More residents were removed from the area Monday. More than 3,000 persons have left their homes in Illinois. Damage

Johnson On Air At 4 P.M. Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — All of the major radio and television networks planned live coverage today of President Johnson's 4 p.m. EDT news conference in the East Room of the White House.

Johnson announced more than a month ago he would hold news conferences announced in advance about once a month. This is the first such conference since then.

Agreement On Raise Averts Steel Walkout

THE WHITE HOUSE announced President Johnson's selection of this picture as "The President's Choice" for the month of April. Final Accord On Pay Put Off For 4 Months

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A four-month steel strike reprieve was virtually certain today, lifting what the Johnson administration viewed as a disastrous threat to the nation's economy.

Ratification by the United Steelworkers Union and 10 major steel firms is expected to be a mere formality Wednesday, swapping a postponement of Saturday's 12:01 a.m. strike deadline for a pay raise of 11.5 cents an hour.

"This is a good day for the economy," said federal mediator William E. Simkin after union President David J. McDonald and chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper put their initials on the agreement.

Union Expects To Win

The stock market promptly rallied, canceling earlier losses, when the agreement was reported Monday.

McDonald emphasized the 11.5 cents is only the price the industry must pay for a strike delay and that the union still expects to win at last 17.9 cents an hour in wage gains.

The 11.5-cent increase would be set aside in escrow until a final agreement is worked out.

Although the steel firms and the union's wage policy committee still must ratify the agreement, Simkin was so confident he planned to return to Washington today.

In exchange for the 11.5-cent pay raise for nearly half a million workers, McDonald agreed to drop the union's demand that any eventual settlement be retroactive to May 1 when present contracts expire.

He also said if final agreement is not reached by Aug. 31, "a strike or a lockout could occur."

Hard Bargaining Ahead

One major firm, Wheeling Steel Corp., broke Big Steel's united front by agreeing earlier to make any eventual settlement retroactive to May 1 instead of paying the flat 11.5-cent increase.

Wheeling joined a smaller firm, Phoenix Steel Corp., as the only companies to agree to retroactive pay.

McDonald and Cooper said they would start working out plans immediately for further talks during the four months of grace.

McDonald said the final settlement must include "greatly increased pensions, early retirement, improved insurance and total job security."

Although months of hard bargaining remain ahead, McDonald, Cooper and Simkin chorused high optimism for an eventual final settlement.

The union based its wage demand on White House guidelines of 3.2 per cent, or 14 cents, plus a 3.9 per cent cost-of-living hike. Steelworkers now average $4.40 per hour in wages and fringe benefits.

The White House guidelines for non-inflationary wage increases are based on what gov-

Navy Evacuates Americans From Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Loyalist air force planes today bombed an encampment of insurgents outside Santo Domingo.

The insurgents, who want to return ex-President Juan Bosch from Puerto Rico, barred outsiders from the encampment, preventing an assessment of damage.

As the fighting resumed, the U.S. Navy planned to evacuate about 500 Americans who want to escape from the island.

Loyalist planes flew over Santo Domingo, but did not resume the bombing and strafing attacks on Monday. The air raids and scattered clashes were reported to have killed at least 25 and wounded about 80.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Navy landing ship Raleigh would pick up some 250 tourists and about the same number of embassy personnel and dependents who had asked to leave. He emphasized that the evacuation was voluntary, that the Americans had not been ordered to leave.

The decision to set up the voluntary evacuation came after army rebels, seeking the return of exiled ex-President Juan Bosch, armed thousands of civilians in Santo Domingo.

The U.S. Navy late Monday stationed a task force including the carrier Boxer and 1,500 Marines off the Dominican coast. The State Department said the warships were in the vicinity to evacuate Americans if it became necessary. About 2,300 Americans are scattered throughout the country.

Peace Corps headquarters in Washington said 109 corpsmen in the Dominican Republic were safe and their withdrawal was not anticipated.

Santo Domingo's airport and port have been closed since Sunday.

By Monday night 12 bodies had been counted, but some unofficial estimates put the death toll as high as 50 with another 100 injured.

Famed Aviator Lindbergh Gets Back In News

WASHINGTON (AP) — A famous aviator whose search for privacy was so successful that he is seldom recognized by the general public found his name back in the news today.

Charles A. Lindbergh, the first man to fly the Atlantic alone, was named a director of the World Wildlife Fund. His selection was announced by Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, president of the Wildlife Management Institute.

Lindbergh has been working quietly in a downtown Washington office for several months, his efforts directed at the protection of wild creatures. Now 63, he lives in Darien, Conn.

Economic Aid Extension Sought For Lake States

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration proposal to permit regional economic aid programs similar to that authorized for the Appalachian region was backed today by senators from upper Great Lakes states.

"We agree that national legislation is urgently needed to meet serious problems of regional economic deprivation," Sens. Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Eugene J. McCarthy and Walter F. Mondale, both of Minnesota, and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, all Democrats, said in a joint statement.

The statement, prepared for the Senate Public Works Committee, said the path has been broken by Congress and state and local officials in development of the Appalachian program.

The statement noted that Hart had previously offered to the committee on behalf of himself and McCarthy, Mondale and Nelson, a proposed addition to the Appalachian bill then pending.

This called for initiating in an 80-county, 3-state area in the northern Great Lakes states of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, a regional program to combat economic distress.

The statement said this and another amendment by Nelson were not pressed upon assurances that legislation authorizing other regional development programs would be recommended by the administration and

An unknown number of persons were killed when a tank attacked and destroyed a police station.

Army troops passed out rifles and machine guns to an estimated 3,000 pro-Bosch civilians. More than 10,000 gasoline-bottle bombs fueled free by gas stations were reported in the hands of civilians.

Armed civilians joined military patrols in the streets. Some threatened to shoot anyone opposed to the revolt. Some stores and factories, including a Pepsi Cola plant, were damaged.

Air force pilots opposed to Bosch's return repeatedly strafed rebel strongpoints in the capital Monday.

North Viet Nam Bridge Buckled By U.S. Bombs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets, after two unsuccessful tries, hit the Bai Duc Thon bridge in North Viet Nam today and buckled one of its three spans, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The bridge spans a river in a fairly deep valley 160 miles south of Hanoi. It withstood two previous poundings, one of them Monday.

Eight F100s carried out the strike on the bridge today. All the planes returned safely, and no enemy aircraft were reported seen.

Four Vietnamese Skyraiders also conducted armed reconnaissance runs over Routes 7 and 101. Then they turned on the Huu Hung highway ferry, on the Kien Giang River.

Bombs and rockets damaged both approaches to the ferry, a pier and a large storage building.

All the aircraft returned safely. Twenty-five U.S. Air Force jets flew over cover for both the American and Vietnamese missions.

A U.S. military spokesman said U.S. jets flew 44 strikes in South Viet Nam today.

A U.S. military spokesman said government troops and U.S. Army helicopter crewmen had killed 108 Viet Cong during four widely scattered actions over the past two days.

The commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps said his Leathernecks "are prepared to take any steps necessary" to get their job done in Viet Nam.

Gen. Wallace W. Greene Jr. said on his arrival at Saigon Airport that while the U.S. Marine role in Viet Nam depends on what the other side may do, "we certainly will not sit on our rear ends and do nothing."

"We are here to do a job and we will do it."

THE GREATEST, though least known, maritime disaster in American history occurred 100 years ago today, April 27, 1865, when the Mississippi River packet Sultana exploded near Memphis, Tenn., and 1,500 persons died. Bulldozer Cuts Hot Line Cable Near Copenhagen

COPENHAGEN (AP) — A bulldozer cut the hot line between Washington and Moscow Monday, local newspapers reported.

They said the line was dead for 16 minutes before the emergency line via Tangier was established.

In order to prevent sabotage and listening-in, the line is constantly switched from one cable to another. Monday morning the ordinary postal cable between Denmark and Holland was used.

The line was reported cut near Ringsted, west of Copenhagen, by a bulldozer during road repairs.

Insurance Gets Forum Accent On Gas Utility

A public forum that bore heavily on the economics of Escanaba's gas utility policy was presented in City Hall last night by the United Labor Committee, with Mrs. Norman L. Linquist, president of the League of Women Voters, as moderator.

Carl Anderson of the committee said he could not speak for labor, but spoke from it in an effort to deepen the public understanding of the issues of the June 1 election in Escanaba in which the city will decide whether to sell its municipal gas utility to Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. for $725,000. Especially desirable, said Anderson, is full understanding of the merits of city ownership of the utility.

With Anderson on the labor panel was Cecil Chase. The City Council, which has recommended sale of the city-owned gas utility, was represented by Councilman Harold Vanlerberghe and the Gas Advisory Committee created by City Council was represented by John Sauve.

Star performer of the evening was a man who wasn't on the panel. He was L. M. Chaney, of the engineering consulting firm of Black & Veatch of Kansas City, Mo., which was retained by the City of Escanaba to make an engineering study of the city gas utility and a recommendation on whether it should be kept by the city or sold.

June 1 Election

The question arises because Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. is to build a pipe line to bring natural gas to Escanaba and it is a cheaper fuel than the propane air gas which the city now sells in its gas utility. The city must decide in the June 1 election whether to sell its gas utility to Mich. Con and let it distribute gas in Escanaba, or keep its utility and convert it to natural gas.

The Black & Veatch report recommended that if the city could get $600,000 or more for its utility it should sell it. Mich. Con offered $725,000.

Chaney revealed for the first time that his firm's study (which did not find that Mich. Con could sell as much gas in Escanaba as it proposes to) showed that Mich. Con could not in 20 years make any profit on selling gas in the present city gas system if it paid $725,000 for it. Its profits, he said, would have to come from extensions of the system and from its gas pipe line transmission earnings.

Questions and answers:
Q. Why can't the city gas system be used (for natural gas) as now constructed.

A. To get gas through it for extensions more pressure must be used, requiring clamping of joints of the present system.

Q. Some rates would be cheaper if the city owned the utility?

A. Chaney: We know what the rates would be with private operation; we would hope the municipal rates would be the same, but we know that investment costs (of conversion) have to be figured in.

Q. Does Mich. Con use union labor?

A. Yes.
Q. If Mich. Con and the city have the same rates and the city can make over $1 million in 10 years it is worth more than double what Mich. Con offered.

A. Chaney: The question of adequate liability insurance at reasonable cost is most important. What is available is not adequate and not reasonably priced.

Our report shows that the municipal ownership benefit would be $12,500 a year and a $15,000 insurance premium (for $500,000 of insurance from Lloyd's of London with $15,000 deductible per claim) would wipe that out and still not provide adequate insurance. So the private ownership advantages multiplies itself enormously.

Q. The gas utility set aside (in the city's self-insurance fund) $21,000 last year. We feel the earning potential of the utility will cover its needs; that Mich. Con can only prorrate its costs over a broader area.

A. Chaney: You can only do it if you can get well insured. We found that the advantages of city ownership were less than accepting the $725,000 offer and receiving the benefits that go with it; taxes; larger operation, materials, know-how. Considering these along with the economic advantages we can't justify municipal operation if the sale price is $725,000.

Q. The gas plant hasn't cost one cent.

A. Chaney: In 1957-58 the city invested $125,000 in it and less than $2,000-$3,000 of it has been repaid. That means over $100,000 of city general funds used and never repaid. That $125,000 is not available for other uses and its interest has been lost.

Q. There are reserves (from gas earnings) in the self-insurance fund.

A. Chaney: But those funds are for a specific purpose and not available for any other purpose, they don't even provide any interest for the city general fund. The insurance fund is for a loss and if there's a loss there's no fund the day after.

Q. The Junior High School will have to spend $40,000 to $60,000 for a new heating plant if the steam plant is closed.

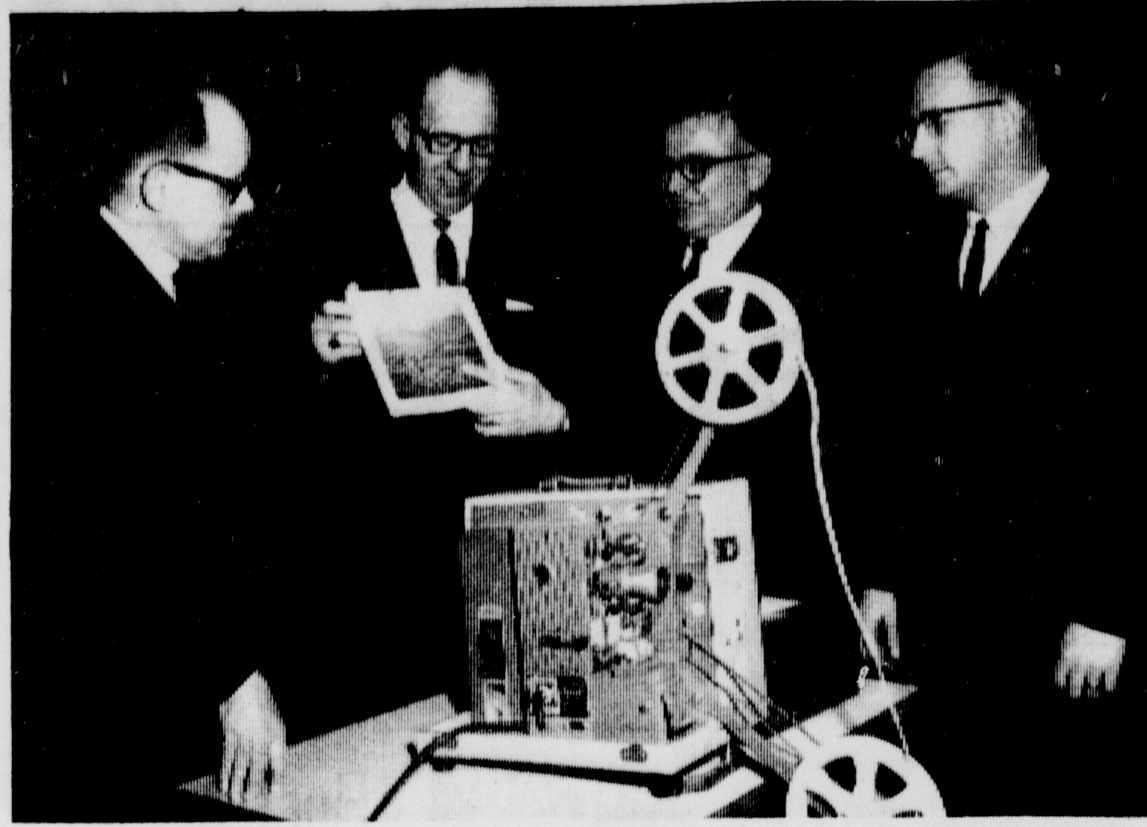

A. Chaney: The school will have to convert regardless of the outcome of the election. The steam plant will have to go because when a competing fuel is 35 per cent cheaper a steam plant will lose its customers.

Q. Couldn't it convert to gas?

A. Chaney: It is cheaper to pipe fuel to the ultimate consumer than to pipe heat. Steam plants are going out of business throughout the entire country. Competition is a thing you people in the area should welcome from natural gas. The area should grow.

Q. Why should a city official recommend conversion to natural gas when many people here live by competing fuels?

A. I don't think the city fathers should give an exclusive franchise to anyone.

Alger Stylists Receive Awards

The Alger County 4-H Spring Achievement held last Friday at the Mather High School in Munising was climaxed by the style revue at 8 p. m. in Mather High School Auditorium.

John P. Campana, Alger County Extension director, said style review pins were won by: Mary Jo McNally and Sue Bailey, Munising; Colleen Maki, Eben Junction; Susan Kangas, Rumley; Christine Johnson, Eben Junction; Cheryl Antilla and Judy Lockhart, Limestone; Sharon Carberry, Munising; Charlene Senecal, Grand Marais and Regina Philipson, AuTrain.

Selected to participate in the Upper Peninsula State Fair 4-H style revue in August were: Janet Kello, Munising; Jackie Stevens, Eben, and first alternate Susan Kangas of Rumley.

Top stylist selected by the judges was Miss Louise Laakso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Laakso of Eben Junction—a member of the Sewing Surfers 4-H Club led by Mrs. Robert Johnson of Chatham. Miss Laakso will go to Michigan State University for the State 4-H Show in late August and will model there.

Sewage Treatment Workers Examined

Twenty-nine wastewater works operators from the Upper Peninsula are in Escanaba today writing examinations for certification. Persons in responsible charge of sewage treatment plants in Michigan must have demonstrated their ability to operate them to the state health commissioner, according to C. L. Courchaine, engineer in charge of the State Health Department's office in Escanaba. Courchaine said applicants are examined in four categories: education, experience, personal characteristics, and a written examination.

Brien To Enter Speech Contest

Art Brien of Escanaba, who will represent the peninsula area in a division speech contest of the Toastmasters Clubs at LaCrosse, Wis., May 1, was given a sendoff at the Bay de Noc Toastmasters meeting Monday night. Clubs at Marquette, Iron Mountain and Escanaba contributed to his expenses for the trip.

At the session Monday Tom McDermott acted as toastmaster of the evening and introduced three speakers, William L. Miller, Ron Langford and Norbert Valind.

Health Camp Program For Garden PTA

GARDEN—The last meeting of the Garden School PTA was held Wednesday night at the school. John Vargo, representative of Bay Cliff Health Camp, addressed the group.

Using slides and commentary he gave the history of the summer camp which was established for the handicapped children of the U. P. The initial private funds which made the camp possible have been exhausted, he observed. Private donations and donations from the counties who send children to the camp keep it in operation. Delta County sends the least number, the quota having been reduced to five. Because of lack of funds many deserving handicapped children are unable to take advantage of the special speech, hearing, and physical therapy facilities which the camp has to offer. Visitors are welcome at the camp while it is in operation and Vargo announced that he is available for speaking engagements to any group wishing to know more about the Health camp and its facilities.

The attendance award went to Mrs. Knuth's room. Awards for parents attending all the PTA meetings for the year went to Mrs. Richard Hermes, Mrs. Jack Halvorsen, Mrs. Earl Lester, Mrs. John Lester, Mrs. Sid Lucas and Mrs. Bernard Grenier. Lunch was served by Mrs. Grover Spaulding, Mrs. Bernard Grenier, Mrs. John Lester and Mrs. Sid Lucas.

Election of officers for the next school year will be held at a special meeting in September.

Delta District Has Two Fires

Six forest fires burned 14 acres in the Upper Peninsula in the week ending April 24.

Two fires were reported in the Escanaba District (Delta and Marquette counties and the west half of Alger) burning 4.6 acres. To date it has had two fires burning 4.6 acres.

Two fires were reported burning in the Newberry District. Six fires have burned 14 acres in the Upper Peninsula to date. Last year at this time, 91 fires had burned 233 acres.

Car Show Set At Ishpeming

ISHPEMING—The stage is being prepared for the third annual Rod and Custom Car Show which the Peninsula Pistons, Inc., and Ishpeming-Negaunee Junior Chamber of Commerce will present May 2 in the Ishpeming National Guard Armory.

Custom car enthusiasts from many parts of the United States and Canada will display their prize vehicles during the two-day show. The theme for this year's show is quality, not quantity, and many of the well-known customizers will bring their finest creations. Several hundred entry blanks have been mailed to custom car owners throughout the country.

Hours of the show will be from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. Saturday, May 1, and from 11 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sunday, May 2.

The same feeding stations will be available as the first program and if possible each person should receive their second feeding at the same location as the first feeding station as the Alger County Health Dept. is keeping records on the immunization.

Second feedings:
Friday, April 30—11 a. m. to 4 p. m.—Kimberly-Clark Mill, Central School Multi-Purpose Room, Eben High School, Trenary High School, Grand Marais School.

Small Forests Recreational Use Neglected

By KENNETH LOWE

"Emphasis on public ownership and development of outdoor recreation areas has overshadowed the private sector," Prof. Carl Holcomb, extension forester, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va., told members of the Wisconsin-Michigan Section of the Society of American Foresters Saturday in University Center at Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

Holcomb spoke of the role of small private landowners in outdoor recreation.

"The small landowner has no single voice — yet there are over four million individuals who own forest land with some outdoor recreation potential," Holcomb pointed out.

Small landowners are those who have 5,000 acres or less.

In the East, where the population density is the greatest, owners of small holdings can provide most of the recreational needs, he said.

The Department of Agriculture has a program whereby small private landowners can get assistance loans to develop the recreation potential of their land. But the lack of coordinated planning on national, state and local levels has resulted in denial of federal help in many cases, he pointed out.

"A breakdown of planning and spontaneous action on the local level has proven the most serious obstacle thus far," Holcomb noted. "The quality and quantity of private recreation areas is strictly up to the landowners themselves to determine."

To avoid the cheaper commercial type developments for which private recreation areas are so often criticized, good planning and strict zoning is necessary, he said.

Fragmented and disjointed private acreage often hinders certain types of development, Holcomb noted, citing hunting preserves and horse riding areas as examples. Here, the need for cooperation among landowners is necessary to get the amount of land for this type of recreation.

Development of recreation

owners by small private landowners has these advantages, Holcomb said —

- It helps employment.
- Surplus property is converted to profitable use.
- pressure on public recreation facilities is relieved.
- Opportunities are provided for private development which the government cannot or should not furnish.

• It provides a means of keeping land in private ownership, yet still providing public recreation.

The greatest need private owners have of government help is for access roads into wilderness areas — or improvement of existing roads.

"This is something private capital cannot do — and it should not have to do it," Holcomb said.

"Individuals owning small tracts of recreational land still have a choice of developing the land themselves. But they will not have this opportunity long — especially in areas of prime recreational value."

'OPERATION BOOTSTRAP' plans to help walleyes spawn a new population of fish for Little Bay de Noc were discussed Monday by 'Bootstrap' members. Walleye Return Aim Of Experimental Project

By DAVE ANDREWS

GARTH POINT — Bert Wickham stood on the threshold of a dream Monday and looked out over what was once one of the finest walleye fishing waters in the nation.

There was a cheer in his heart and life in his voice and, appropriately, the sun was shining brightly over his resort on the point.

Maybe, just maybe, with a lot of hard work and a dash of good old fashioned luck, the walleyes could be helped along the comeback trail in the bay.

Fifteen years ago Little Bay de Noc attracted thousands of fishermen from all over the country each summer to troll for the sporty and tasty fish. Since that time, for reasons which haven't been completely determined though each angler has his theory, the walleyes have gradually disappeared.

As the walleyes vanished, so did the life-giving tourist dollar.

"For Sale" signs appeared almost as often as "No Vacancy" billings at highway resorts.

Notices Signs

It was eight years ago that Wickham began to take notice of the tell-tale signs. He urged something be done to replenish the declining walleye population. He sought help from conservation and fisheries men.

But it wasn't until last year that his pleas fell on sympathetic ears.

"Operation Bootstrap," an informal organization of resort owners and interested businessmen from the upper Bay de Noc area, began to get rolling last summer.

Using private donations for capital, the "Bootstrap" group purchased about 6,000 rainbow trout from Ben Winton, Kettle Moraine Springs, Wis., hatchery owner, and planted them in Little Bay de Noc.

They submitted plans to the Michigan Dept. of Conservation and U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for approval of a program to build and install 24 "fish shelters" in the bay and formulated a lengthy list of ideas which could improve fishing, many of them proposed by Wickham years ago.

Walleyes Next

"Bert Wickham had ideas like this seven or eight years ago but he couldn't get anyone to go along with him," said Wynand Nieuwenkamp, who is one of "Bootstrap's" strongest members. "Then along came Ben Winton when we planted the rainbows and he got all steamed up about these projects and we just took off."

Last week a northern pike spawning march was flooded at the head of the bay to begin the process of re-stocking northern. The walleye program is next.

Winton, an avid sportsman who has been in the fishing business for 39 years, suggested a "walleye spawning canal" be built and diked at both ends to keep predators away from walleye spawn and newly hatched fish.

Wickham already had such a canal at his resort. Construction on the dikes and installation of a pump to keep water flowing through is expected to begin this week.

"I think it can work out real good," Winton said yesterday. "We'll have to wait and see what happens this year, but there's no reason it shouldn't work."

Helping Nature

"Bootstrap" hopes to have the canal functional by the time walleyes start their spawning season in a few weeks. Conservation Dept. help is being sought to secure walleye spawn to place in the stream.

"This is a new concept — strictly experimental," Wickham said. "We want to get going this year. Time is short. Resorts around here are closing up."

"We honestly believe in what we are doing," he continued. "It takes a lot of research and work, but maybe all of our meetings are finally beginning to pay off."

"We still need final approval from the conservation department on this but we feel it's going to go through all right. All we're trying to do is help nature along."

There was spring in Wickham's voice as he talked. And the sun, which broke through the clouds Monday afternoon, was still shining this morning.

Election Changed In Intermediate School Contest

The popular election of Board of Education members for the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District is off.

Hazel Quarnstrom, superintendent of the school district, said today that information received Monday — shortly before the 4 p.m. deadline for filing nominating petitions — will revert the election to individual school districts.

Quarnstrom said the Dept. of Public Instruction had telephoned the information after a ruling from State Attorney General Frank Kelley.

Instead of a popular election this spring, four places on the Intermediate School Board will be filled by balloting of representatives of the 20 constituent school districts.

Date Changed

He also said that the election date had been changed from June 14 to June 7 and there were no restrictions on which county members come from.

The new deadline for filing nominating petitions is 30 days prior to the June 7 election. Petitions require only 50 signatures, rather than the previous requirement of 146.

Eight candidates beat the original deadline of 4 p.m. Monday with petitions, five from Schoolcraft County and three from Delta.

Two of the petitioners from Schoolcraft County didn't have enough signatures to qualify under former requirements, but today find themselves in the midst of the contest because they did have more than the now needed 50.

Petitions Filed

Filing nominating petitions from Schoolcraft County were: Richard A. Bonifas, 213 N. Houghton Ave., Manistique; Donald A. MacLean, 101 Arbutus Ave., Manistique; Peter V. Thelander, Cooks; Mrs. Lawrence (Eva) Burrell and Mrs. Claire (Violet) Freeland, both of Gulliver.

Candidates from Delta County are: Carlton Olsen, Willow Creek Rd.; Roy D. Olson, 1423 Michigan Ave., Gladstone; and Dr. D. A. Jondrow, 1116 Minnesota Ave., Gladstone.

Four terms on the Delta-Schoolcraft Board of Education must be filled — three of six year terms and one for a two-year term.

The three holdover members of the seven-member board are Harry Johnson Jr., J. Walter VanDeWeghe and Carl VanRemortel.

Lab Fund

A senate appropriations subcommittee Monday approved $390,000 for the construction of the Forest Engineering Laboratory at Michigan Tech. Houghton. The full committee meets Thursday and hopefully will confirm this action. Senators Pat McNamara and Philip A. Hart said today.

Training The Retarded

The Delta County Chapter of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children has asked the Escanaba Area School Board to take over its John F. Kennedy School for Retarded Children.

There are state aids for the operation of special schools to train uneducable, but trainable retarded children so the whole burden of financing of such a unit would not be borne locally, but even with this aid there remain serious problems for the Escanaba Area School District.

The District, which includes the City of Escanaba and the townships of Wells, Ford River and Cornell, has suggested to the Retarded Chapter that it explore the possibilities of countywide sponsorship of such a school as a first step; perhaps by some such agency as the Intermediate School District, which embraces Delta and Schoolcraft counties.

The devoted parents of retarded children in the Escanaba-Gladstone area have by volunteer efforts over a period of nearly a decade raised money by public solicitation and benefit projects to support a school for trainable retarded children. The school is now housed in the fine building erected by Project Pride on a site provided by the Escanaba Area School District on the Webster School campus.

The building meets all the safety and other standards for public school construction, but this is not the problem in any takeover by the public school system.

Let's look at it first from the viewpoint of the parents of retarded children, and their numbers can include any parents not treated well by fate. They pay taxes for the public preparation of their children for maximum usefulness as citizens, like all parents. Because their children have been born retarded they cannot, if severely retarded, be sent to school because they cannot keep up with classwork. Such children must be sent to special schools for training to do the things that their limited mentality permits them to do.

In Michigan the provision of such special programs for the trainable retarded is up to the local school districts. Some do; some don't. The state aids those that do, but part of the burden for financing remains with the local district.

The parents of the retarded can well ask: Why shouldn't government do as much as it can for my retarded child, as well as for my bright child, each in a separate way?

The question merits a humane and patriotic answer. The impossibility of maintaining the Kennedy School on a volunteer basis is evident. It has been scrimping by with a minimal budget, but public school takeover would triple or quadruple its present spending at the least. The special teacher salary scale would apply, the volunteer janitor would become a paid janitor, etc.

And the present enrollment in the volunteer school is probably only a fraction of the number that would be found in a public school for the trainable. For a school district with serious problems of financing for its present program it takes more than moral courage to add this new obligation; it takes money, too.

The Retarded Chapter has found that it has undertaken a task beyond its means and it is asking local government to take over. The schools, while acknowledging the moral problem, are properly concerned with the economic problem, too. The deliberations are influenced, no doubt, by the thought that little can be done for some of these children and that it will cost much.

But there are reasons that favor governmental involvement in the problem of the retarded. Government can do more for these children than can their parents, outside the element of affection. Government can screen the retarded psychologically so that children are institutionalized, sent to schools for the trainable or schools for the educable as mind quality dictates, and some parents are unwilling because of the emotional trauma to do this. Government participation should also, because of the huge cost of the program, accelerate the search for means to prevent retardation, which has increased with the conquest of infant mortality.

Some educators wonder where public schools should shorten aid to the normal enough to squeeze out some for the uneducable. What can be done for them, essentially, is a supplement to what their parents do and the schools will continue to regard their first and chief function as the education of educable. The unavailability of properly prepared teachers is also a school problem of special education.

The Escanaba Area schools have two rooms of educable retarded children now. They could use three more; they have the children for them. So the extension of a program to the uneducable will be difficult.

Gas Impetus

Escanaba, debating whether to sell its unprofitable propane gas utility to Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., must note with interest that a new economic and industrial boom may be in the offing for Europe because of the new availability of natural gas there.

In 1959, one of the world's largest gas fields was discovered off the coast of Holland. With good reason to hope that this is only a part of the riches that may lie beneath the North Sea, some 50 companies, under license from six nations bordering the sea, are searching for oil, as well as more gas.

Their efforts have now been given a new impetus under international law. A "Convention on the Continental Shelf," drawn up in 1958, has gone into effect with the ratification of the required number of signatory countries.

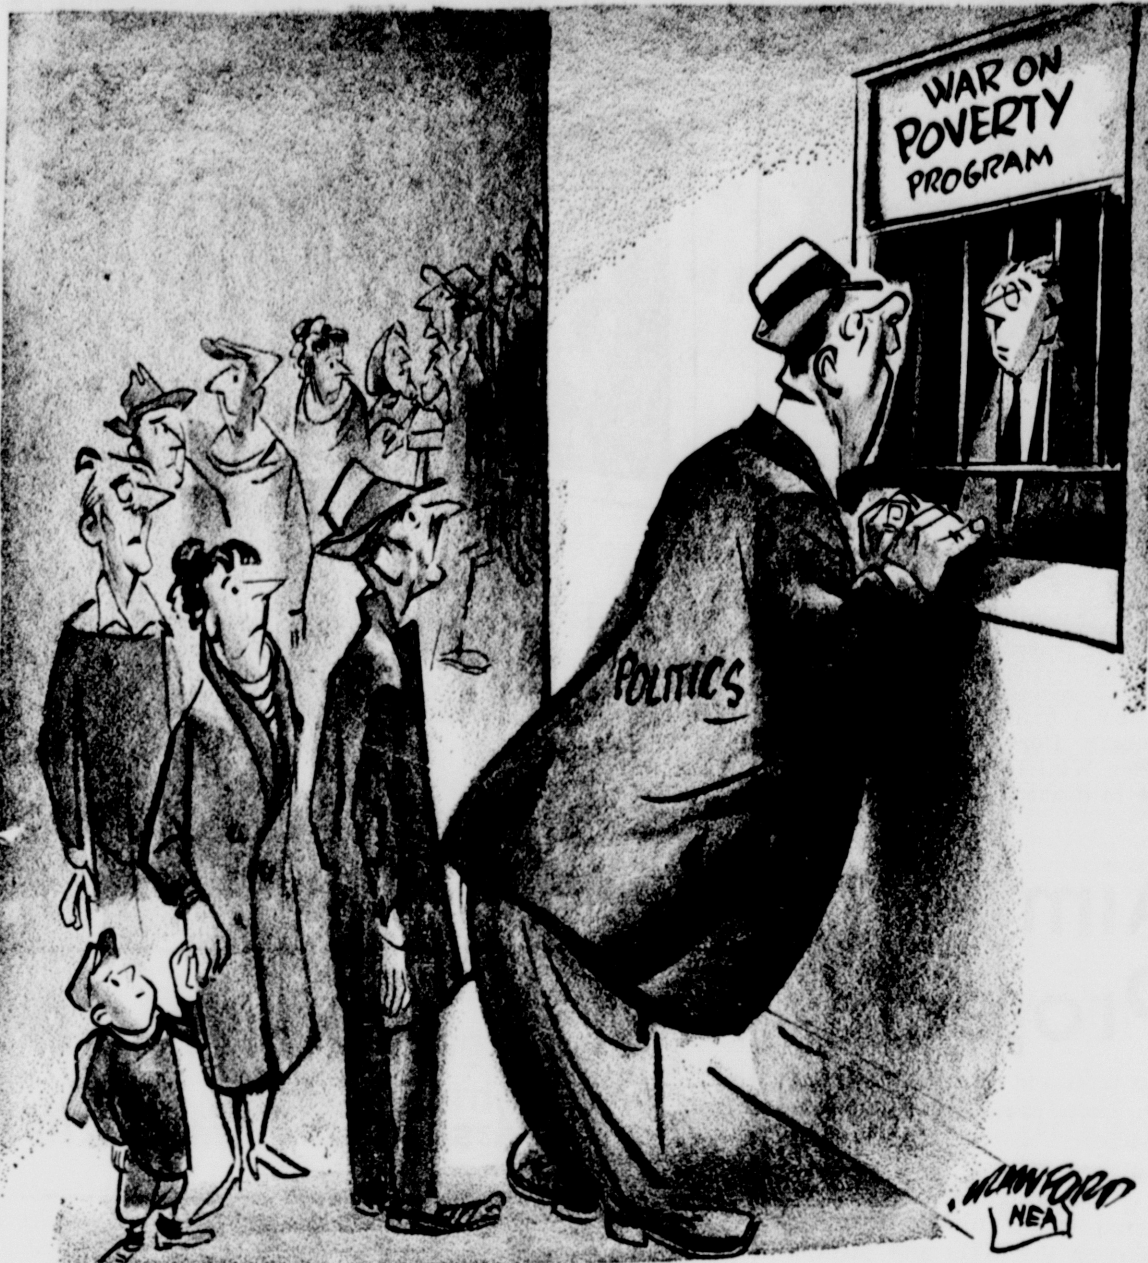

It gives to each coastal state exclusive rights to the seabed off its shore out to a depth of 200 meters (about 573 feet). No other nation can prospect within that limit. Beyond, the sea floor is open to anyone with ability to stake a claim and exploit it.

The convention applies only to the land under the sea, not to fishing rights within the water, navigation rights on the water or in the air above the water.

Gas and oil from the North Sea could have an impact on European politics almost as great as on its economy. A "Big Inch" from the coast of Holland to, say, the boot-top of Italy would cross many boundaries and hasten the political unification of the continent.

There could be other changes. With cheap and abundant gas, sweater-wrapped Britishers could come to know the blessings of American central heating. That in itself would be a revolution.

Victory Is Bitter

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Here and there around the country the Democrats are learning about the pitfalls of victory.

Led by President Johnson's crushing triumph over Barry Goldwater, they won so big in so many places that public offices are now held by a flock of candidates who never expected to be anything but real estate brokers, dentists and damage suit lawyers.

Democratic majorities in many newly captured state legislatures thus are often made up in part of freshmen totally unacquainted with lawmaking and politics. Sometimes they are nearly unmanageable.

As one observer puts it: "Every party rewards a lot of faithful 'old Joes' by placing them on its tickets. When they get elected in a sweep, nobody knows what to do with 'em.'"

Many of the newcomers, of course, are far from being "old Joes." They are young men, just getting started, who imagined they might have a few dry runs before winning.

Michigan is an example of the difficulties here suggested. To a somewhat lesser extent, so are Iowa and New York, though in the latter instance sharp factional collisions produced the celebrated Democratic chaos in Albany.

Some 70 new Democratic legislators prowled the capitol corridors this spring in Lansing, where the party has virtually a two-thirds command in both houses of the legislature.

A big proportion of these Michigan freshmen are described as suburban white collar types, mostly independent of the "labor control" considered common among the state's Democratic lawmakers.

These new boys are partly the product of Johnson's smash win, and partly the result of state legislative reapportionment which clearly favors the Democrats.

Political sources in Michigan say these legislators are neither well-versed in their duties nor easily managed by an apparently floundering Democratic leadership in both houses.

Democratic leaders are trying hard not to add any new cubits to Republican Gov. George Romney's already large image, but the net of their behavior so far is to do just that.

In Iowa, the now Democratic legislature is working with a popular Democratic governor, Harold Hughes. The situation is by that fact under considerably better control. Yet one politician in Des Moines says: "The House (4 to 1 Democratic) is a real can of worms. They're floundering. They spend 20 minutes considering a constitutional amendment, and whole days on trivia. There's a real lack of guidance."

Some Iowa Democrats are said to have flexed their largely untried muscles by refusing to go to party caucuses, partly in complaint against the presence there of labor and other lobbyists.

Despite instances like these mentioned, no general trend is discernible. New Democratic legislatures in Indiana and Utah, both with Democratic governors, have been reasonably well-disciplined and productive of some highly constructive legislation.

Nevertheless, there seems to be a lesson here. Victory so huge as to haul in great numbers of untutored and perhaps undisciplined office holders may contain the seeds of early reversal. Voter reaction to confused leadership and wobbly performance could contract considerably the immense bridge head the Democrats gained in 1964.

But before office-hungry Republicans smack their lips over signs of Democratic disarray, they might consider this:

The Democrats' embarrassment of inexperienced numbers could be a foretaste of what the GOP may encounter if, handicapped as it is in many places through long unfamiliarity with governing, it should suddenly be thrust back into power on a broad counterwave.

The Doctor Says:

Spot Signs Of Cancer

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Although cancer control is important every month in the year, April is the official cancer control month.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in women. Early diagnosis is the key to the prevention of death from this disease, but the diagnosis is still not being made early enough to lower the death rate.

Finding the disease early is something every woman must be taught to do for herself.

In the self-examination of the breast for tumors it is important to make firm pressure on the breasts with the flat of the hand because small nodules of breast tissue cannot be felt in any breast if only the finger tips are used. Remember — the flat of the hand.

Most lumps in the breast are benign but, when a small lump is detected, it should be examined by a doctor without delay.

A lump that is only half an inch in diameter can be removed with fair assurance of obtaining a cure. But most cancers of the breast, when first seen by a doctor, are about 2 inches in diameter. This means that they have been present in a detectable state for 6 to 12 months and the chance that they have already spread to other parts of the body is great.

The doctor can tell whether or not a tumor in the breast is malignant only by a biopsy — taking a small piece of tissue for microscopic examination. Another aid to diagnosis is mammography, or X-ray of the breast in profile. X-ray specialists have been able by this method to make a correct diagnosis of breast cancer without biopsy in 97 per cent of the breasts examined.

Thermography is the most recent method of making a diagnosis of breast cancer. It consists of scanning the breasts with a heat-sensitive device. The presence of a cancer is detected through the fact that a cancer gives off more heat than normal tissue. This technique often shows the presence of a malignant tumor that cannot be felt or detected by X-ray.

Self-examination, however, remains the simplest and most practical way of finding breast cancers in the early stages. This is because having a routine examination by a doctor once a year, as many women do, is not enough. Every woman should examine herself at least once a month.

Local American Cancer Society units can lend your church or civic women's group a movie, free of charge, which will show the proper procedure.

SCHOOL AID

There is a growing feeling that the state aid formula in the elementary and secondary schools is in need of revision. In the past decade, state funds for school aid have dropped from approximately 60 per cent to 40 per cent, so that today the state pays 40 per cent and the local property owner pays 60 per cent. All of us know from personal experience that the property tax has been pushed to its upper limits.

Two somewhat similar bills are being considered by the Legislature that would change the school aid formula — one submitted by the Department of Public Instruction, and one by the Michigan Education Association. These bills call for an increase in state aid for kindergarten through 12th grade in the neighborhood of 90 to 110 million dollars.

In comparison, the proposed budget for K-12 leaves the current formula unchanged and requests only 31 million dollars additional. This amounts to an increase of 3 per cent, or only half of the schools' 6 per cent annual cost of living increase.

Because the fate of any education bill is closely tied to the state's need for more revenue to raise the sums required to finance such a program, fiscal reform is necessary. If you believe as does the Berkley Council for Better Schools that a change in our approach to the state aid formula is imperative, there is something you can do now.

Write to your legislators and/or the chairman of the Education Committees. In the House, it's Rep. Lucille McCollough; in the Senate, it's Senator Gerald Dunn.

Urge them to hold public hearings on the bills they are now considering.

Urge them to enact legislation in the 1965 session.

Urge them to initiate legislation for fiscal reform.

The Berkley Council for Better Schools is initiating a petition drive throughout the state in support of improved state aid and fiscal reform, and invites other groups and individuals to participate. It is our hope that this effort will reassure the Legislature that there is grass roots support for early enactment of suitable legislation.

Dear Ann Landers: During the past few months I was pleased to see a once-forbidden subject, homosexuality, discussed openly and intelligently in your column.

Twenty-two years ago, over the violent protests of my parents, I married a man who had confessed to me that he was a homosexual. I was strongly attracted to him and confident that I could get him to change.

A year after our marriage a daughter was born. Within a few weeks my husband was sent overseas. Following his release from the service he said he had met a man he preferred to live with and wanted a separation but not a divorce. I agreed and turned down his generous offer of support since I had an inheritance from my grandparents and didn't need financial help.

My husband and his friend moved to another section of the country and I have seen him only five times in the past 20 years.

Six months ago my daughter began dating a young man who is startlingly like her father in appearance. He is brilliant and charming in the same way that her father was. Last week he told her about his homosexual tendencies. I suspected it the first time I met him but said nothing. Now I feel my life has come full circle and my daughter will surely be trapped in a tragedy which duplicates my own.

Should I speak to the young man privately and ask him to stop seeing my daughter? Or should I tell my daughter of my tortured existence and beg her not to make the same mistake? — M. V.

Dear M. V.: Do not speak to the young man and do not bring your husband into the picture. Presenting yourself as "the horrible example" will only complicate matters and add to your daughter's problems. Enlist the help of a physician or a psychiatrist and make it a three-cornered discussion, with the physician or psychiatrist doing most of the talking.

Don't be surprised if your daughter marries the young man anyway. People who feel strongly about romantic involvements seldom listen to reason. (You are exhibit A.) They may know, intellectually, that fire is hot and that burns, but they insist on getting their own blisters, nonetheless.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter Rosalie has a good job in an office. She is going steady with a fellow who works in a warehouse.

Sheldon takes Rosalie to the movies once a week and then to a drive-in for a sandwich and a malted. This he calls dinner.

Every few weeks Sheldon eats out with us. When the check comes to the table he always says, "How much was my dinner?" He hands me the exact amount, to the penny, with never a word about paying for Rosalie's meal.

What kind of a man wouldn't even treat his own girl to dinner? My wife and I have been having some arguments over this. She says I am too hard on the boy. I say he is cheap. What do you say? — ROSALIE'S PA

Dear Pa: This may come as a shock to you, but when a young man accompanies his girl and her parents to dinner he should be treated as a guest. This means Pa pays the check. All of it.

Confidential to THIRTY-FIVE YEARS OF EXPERIENCE: Sorry, Madame, but you have NOT had thirty-five years of experience. You've had one year of experience thirty-five times. The mistakes you have repeated prove you've learned nothing.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cliffs And Jap Steelmen Sign

Premier David Brand of Western Australia today said it has been confirmed by Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., that seven Japanese steel companies have announced their intention to purchase from Cliffs' subsidiary, Cliffs International, 71.4 million gross tons of iron ore pellets to be produced in Western Australia. The total purchase price of the contractual tonnage is estimated to be about $900 million.

The sale is contingent upon the completion of negotiation of other terms and conditions and the formal agreement and obtaining satisfactory financing.

Cliffs International, which has been granted the right to develop iron ore deposits containing over 500 million tons in a 246 square mile area in the Robe River district, will ship the pellets averaging about 64 per cent iron at the rate of 3.6 million tons per year.

The Japanese steel companies are: Yawata Iron & Steel Co. Ltd.; Fuji Iron & Steel Co. Ltd.; Nippon Kokan Kabushiki Kaisha; Sumitomo Metal Industries Ltd.; Kawasaki Steel Corp.; Kobe Steel Works Ltd.; and Nisshin Steel Co.

Cliffs recently announced that it had concluded a letter of intent with Mitsui & Co. Ltd., of Tokyo, Japan, entitling Mitsui to a 35 per cent participation in the development of the iron ore deposits in Western Australia. The deposits are located about 70 miles from Cape Preston, the proposed shipping port on the Indian Ocean.

Sufficient exploration has been completed to indicate approximately 150 million tons of iron ore averaging 57 per cent to 58 per cent natural in meso-type deposits that are relatively easy to mine. The ore does not require any concentration or beneficiation prior to pelletizing and by the pelletizing process results in a pellet of over 63 per cent iron.

Extensive testing of various bulk samples has been done in Cliffs' research laboratory in Ishpeming, Mich., since 1962. Studies indicated that high quality pellets of good strength and reducibility could be made using the grate-kiln system pioneered by Cliffs on its hematite ores in Michigan.

While the logical market for these pellets is the Japanese iron and steel industry, it is believed that the pellets will be competitive in other world markets as well.

Cliffs has mined and shipped iron ore for 115 years and presently is the largest independent producer and seller of iron ore in the United States. Cliffs owns or operates five pellet plants, four open pit mines and two underground mines on the Marquette Range in Michigan and four open pit mines on the Mesabi Range in Minnesota. Cliffs also handles the sales in the United States and Canada of iron ore produced by others in Canada and in South America.

Does Gleason Drink Coffee?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "What does Jackie Gleason drink from his cup?" asks a reader of the column. "Is it coffee?"

This occasional Gleason-watcher at once decided that if there is coffee in Mr. G's cup, it may possibly be the very worst brew in the world if one judged by the Great One's reaction to an occasional sip.

However, a question of such grave import deserves something more authoritative than a guess, so attempts were made to get the answer from, so to speak, the horse's mouth. Gleason, however, was not available because he is incommunicado for the next three days cutting a new record album.

The next best source was CBS' official Gleason authority. "Ah yes," said the Gleason authority. "We get many requests for this information."

Then came a little pause followed by the cautiously worded statement: "We tell them that he says it is coffee."

There is, however, an unconfirmed rumor around Miami that the beverage in the cup is champagne. This, too, may be discounted, because, unless it is very sour champagne indeed, no connoisseur ever had such a violent reaction to a sip of a fine wine.

Boyle's Reward: Trip To Viet Nam

By HAL BOYLE
EN ROUTE TO SAIGON (AP) — Many firms have a policy of rewarding employees after long service.

So does mine.

On completing 30 years at the same old typewriter stand, I was summoned by an executive who told me:

"We are giving you a free two-month trip, all expenses paid. Where do you think is the worst place in the world to be right now?"

"Viet Nam," I replied without hesitation.

"Well, isn't that a strange coincidence?" exclaimed my kindly superior. "That's the very place we got you a ticket to."

Hal Boyle

In Time For Monsoon
Then he added as an afterthought:

"Better get over there as soon as you can. The monsoon season is about to start — and you certainly wouldn't want to miss that."

So it was that I learned I had volunteered to help cover a third war. The others were World War II and our "police action" in Korea.

When I informed friends that I was going to Viet Nam they were of two opinions. Some said they envied me, because they felt sure it would be an interesting and educational assignment. The others, whose views I happen to prize more highly, simply said, "You must be out of your mind."

A friendly cab driver to whom I confided my mission had still a different reaction. Turning and looking critically at my thinning hair and bulging waistline, he shook his head and remarked:

"Gee, now I'm really worried. I didn't know the situation out there was that desperate. Lyndon Johnson sure is scraping the bottom of our manpower barrel."

Dozen Dull Needles
The first action in approaching any war is always a battle with red tape. It took two weeks and 12 dull needles to go through a series of medical shots protecting against smallpox, plague, cholera — and practically everything else except the inconvenience of sudden metallic ventilation. Modern medicine doesn't seem to have a wonder drug to prevent that.

Then you have to go to the Viet Nam Embassy in Washington, D.C., for a visitor's visa. Then you drop by the Pentagon for a chocolate milkshake, a briefing, and a wallet identity card from the Department of Defense which warns our public information officers abroad that you are a newsmen.

I flew on then to Kansas City, Mo., to say goodbye to my 77-year-old mother. I thought I would have to console her, but actually she consoled me. I guess we have had so many farewells over the years that parting from each other has become a way of life for us.

News For Back Home
"Son, I know that what's happening over there is terribly important to us," she said. "I just hope you can explain so that I can understand it. It all seems so mixed up."

As I kissed her at the door, her eyes flooded and she poured out a torrent of last-minute maternal advice:

"Don't forget your vitamin pills. Stay out of the hot sun and those jungles and rice paddies. Don't get your feet wet, get plenty of rest, and you'll be all right."

Then began the long and lonely around-the-clock flight to far-off Saigon.

There I hope to spend as much time as I can with the American men stationed with our different services in Viet Nam, and write for their folks back home the nature of their job and how they feel about it. In war, what happens to the men who pull the triggers is always more humanly interesting than where the bullets go or the bombs fall.

Bay Cliff Story Told To Kiwanis

Facts on the operation of Bay Cliff health center for physically handicapped children were given to the Escanaba Kiwanis Club Monday by John A. Vargo of Marquette, director of the camp, now starting its 32nd year.

The Bay Cliff center now accommodates 170 children, ranging in ages from 4 to 16 years, and is conducted by a staff of 90 persons. The six-weeks program, which this year will be from June 20 to Aug. 1, includes educational, recreational and socialization activities in addition to therapy.

The cost, Mr. Vargo said, amounts to $55,000 per year, financed wholly by contributions. The cost for each child is being held to about $250, and most counties are able to cover a part of the expense of the children they send to Bay Cliff. In Delta county, it is estimated that there are about 20 children who would benefit from the camp program, but the number will have to be cut in half because of the limit on facilities.

A movie film showing buildings and activities at the center, which is located at Big Bay, 30 miles northwest of Marquette, was shown to the club, with a commentary by Mr. Vargo. He pointed out new buildings and added facilities which have come in the last two years.

The program Monday was arranged by John F. Haines and at the close of the meeting Kiwanis president John A. O'Brien presented a check for $375 to Mr. Vargo as the club's contribution to the Bay Cliff operating fund.

Fifteenth-century sailors shuddered if their ship listed to starboard; they considered it a very bad omen.

Gerber Expands Fremont Plant

FREMONT (AP) — Gerber Products Co. announced plans Monday for a $600,000 expansion of its facilities here to include an administrative office building addition and expanded warehouse space for baby foods.

E. M. Weisner, plant manager, said work already has begun on the warehouse addition of 68,600 square feet and is scheduled for completion by Sept. 1. The administrative offices addition will provide an extra 13,454 square feet on three levels with construction expected to begin soon toward a December completion date.

Three Teachers Take Part In Reading Workshop

More than 150 educators attended a reading conference Saturday at Northern Michigan University in Marquette, for which Dr. William Sheldon, author of a reading series and Syracuse University reading instructor gave the keynote address.

Dr. Sheldon noted every effort is being made to find the magic way to teach children to read, from experiments with the very young to providing reading concepts and experiences for the disadvantaged, both children and adults. Schools are experimenting with different organization plans to expedite teaching, and providing many levels of material for children in the classrooms.

A video tape prepared by John D. Pierce teachers was shown.

Mrs. Vert Guidebeck, Mrs. Robert Kanerva and Evelyn Berwin attended the conference. Miss Berwin was chairman of one of the groups which formulated questions about the reading program for Dr. Sheldon's discussion.

Shay In Europe With Romney

A Schoolcraft County man, Leonard H. Shay of Germfask is among 70 businessmen currently on a world tour with Gov. George Romney.

The group left Thursday from Detroit on a 10-day visit to Germany, France, Italy, Switzerland, Holland and England.

As far as is known, Shay is the only Upper Peninsula man in the group.

He operates L. H. Shay Veneer Co. in Germfask, which supplies 93 per cent of the birdseye maple sold in Europe. The bulk of its shipments have been going to Italy.

The firm was founded by the late Hugh Shay and was reactivated by his son, Leonard after World War II, in which Leonard served three years with the Army. The elder Mr. Shay died in 1945.

Twelve to 15 men are employed in the Shay operations, which include both import and export. Exports include veneer logs, elm, birch, white oak, white ash, plain maple veneer, soft grey and red elm logs.

The company formerly had Canadian operations also and for a few years ran a sawmill in conjunction with its operations. The mill was sold in 1963.

Logs are purchased in Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Virginia, Minnesota and Iowa as well as Michigan. Timber rights have been purchased from copper company lands in the western Upper Peninsula.

Shay and his wife Eleata live at Germfask. They have two children, Kathy 18 and Dennis, 6. He is active in the Knights of Columbus, Elks and the Timber Producers Assn.

The goal of the European trip is to stimulate business which will benefit the state. Import and export operations and the common market will be studied.

The participants in the tour were selected from various Michigan firms to open new vistas of import and export trade possibilities. Arrangements for meetings with businessmen abroad have been made through embassy officials.

Instead of carrying the usual made-in-Michigan products, the group has eight $1,000 scholarships to be awarded to the Interlochen music camp for eight weeks this summer.

The Michigan group includes men from Germfask to Sturgis, 450 miles south. Both experienced and inexperienced men in foreign trade are making the trip. The trip is financed by the participants and is a grass-roots businessmen's project. Companies from 36 communities are represented.

The market research and promotional trip is a prelude to the state's 12th annual Michigan Week observance, which has for a theme this year "Michigan—Dynamic in World Progress."

"The idea for Operation Europe grew from this. The objectives are to create awareness among businessmen of the market and trade potentials in Europe and enable them to establish personal business contacts in major world trade capitals, and to give European business leaders in these countries a better understanding of the business potentials in Michigan."

Shay is a "great believer" in the common market and thinks some day it will form the beginning of a united Europe. He makes two to three trips to Europe each year to contact customers. He was recently honored for his work with the forestry and conservation programs in Upper Michigan.

Air Base Is Topic For Rotary Meet

A program on K. I. Sawyer AFB was presented for Rotary Monday by Maj. Frederic A. Stone, chief of the medical division. The program was arranged by Edward Jackson.

Short films on mid-air refueling of aircraft and use of helicopters in fire suppression were shown.

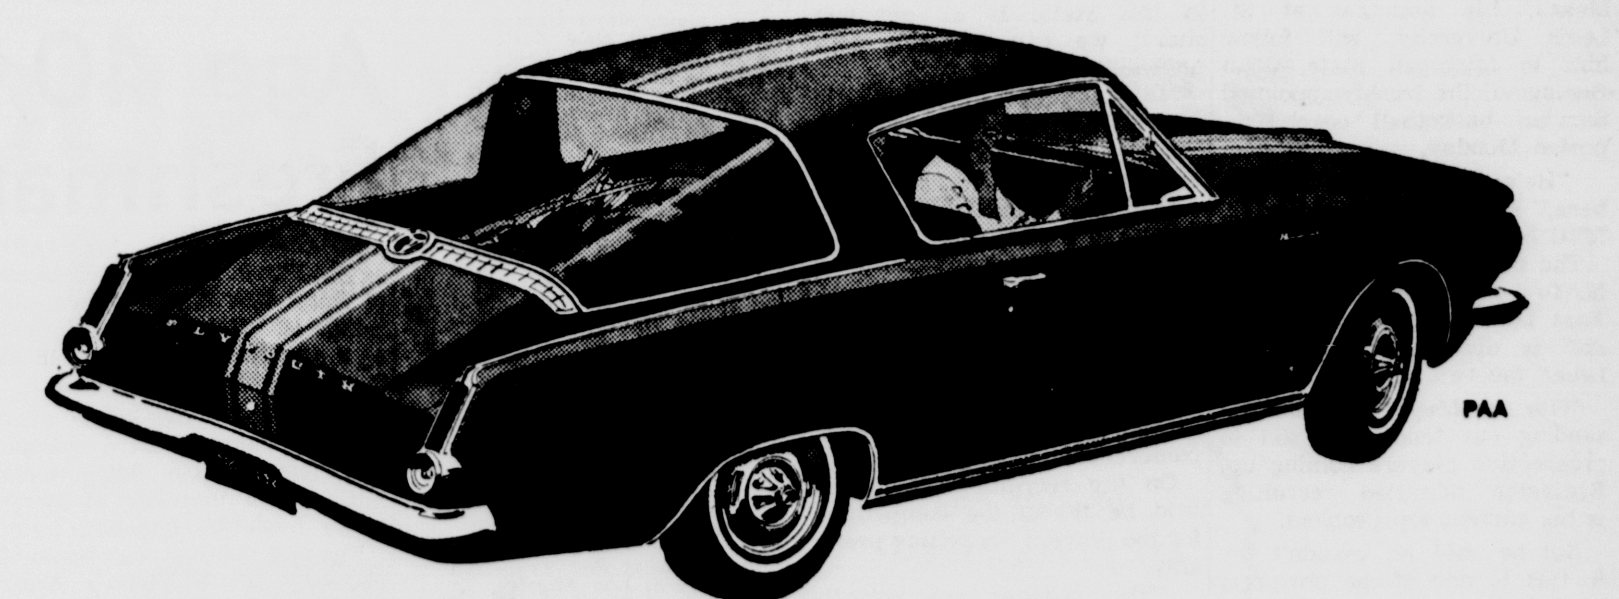

The draught from the helicopter blades helps blow away smoke, permitting plane occupants in air disasters to leave craft, and also aiding fire fighters. Men in asbestos suits can be brought in with them to help fight the fires.

Aircraft at the base, various facilities and information on the Air Force, fourth largest business in the United States, were included in the presentation.

An invitation was extended for the open house May 16 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the base.

Means Follows Benington To Spartan Post

EAST LANSING (AP)—Sonny Means, his assistant at St. Louis University, will follow him to Michigan State, John Benington, the freshly-appointed Spartan basketball coach, reported Monday.

"He's definitely coming here," said Benington of Means, MSU basketball captain in 1952. The new MSU coach, holding his first news conference on the East Lansing campus, said he still is dividing his time between the two schools.

With the May 1 deadline for sending out tenders of aid to prospective players coming up, Benington admitted recruiting is his current top problem.

But he said he wouldn't try to talk to any of the prospects he had been lining up for St. Louis into switching to Michigan State.

"If they want to come to Michigan State and come to me, of course I won't turn them down," he added.

Benington said the majority of aid tenders will go to boys in Michigan. "I think we have

Hull To Resume Record Assault In Cup Series

MONTREAL (AP)—Bobby Hull, the Chicago Black Hawks' blond bomber, has regained his shooting eye and will resume his assault on a couple of Stanley Cup records against the Canadiens in Montreal tonight.

Hull pounded home a pair of goals in Chicago's 5-1 triumph Sunday over Montreal which knotted the best-of-7 series at two games each.

The two goals gave Hull a total of 10 in the playoffs which began with a best-of-7 triumph over Detroit and boosted his point total to 17.

With at least two and possibly three games to play, Hull needs two goals to reach the record of 12 set by Maurice Richard of Montreal in 1944 and tied by Montreal's Jean Beliveau in 1956.

Bobby also needs a mere four points to equal the mark of 21 established by teammate Stan Mikita in 1962 with six goals and a record 15 assists.

If the Golden Jet can break or even tie these records, he also might carry the Hawks to their first Stanley Cup championship since 1961.

In the first two games in Montreal, both won by the Canadi-

Bumpy Road To Chicago For Slugger

CHICAGO (AP)—Danny Cater, a soft-spoken Texan, has followed a bumpy road to baseball's big show but finally has batted his way into the status of a regular with the Chicago White Sox.

The 25-year-old Cater tops the majors in hitting with .464 and nearly all of his 13 hits in 28 trips to the plate have been involved in run production.

Cater, now installed in left field, has played every position 60 games for the Phils and batted .296 with 12 extra base blows that included nine doubles.

"I was a shortstop when the Phils signed me in 1958," recalls Cater, whose first sight of Chicago was in 1956 when he and fellow teen-agers from Austin, Tex., played in the Colt League World Series in Comiskey Park.

"I was turned into a second baseman when I was at Bakersfield, Calif., in 1959. The manager said I could make the double play as well as any kid he had seen. So next season at Williamsport, Pa., they made me a first baseman.

"Seems that's been the story of my life. Since then I've played every outfield and infield position, including catching a spring game once with the Phils.

"I'll play anywhere they tell me—but I was sure glad to see the Sox are well stocked with catchers—that's one spot I'd just as soon leave to someone else."

Cater admits being a little nervous at times in his role as a regular, adding that "the only thing that really worries me, though, is money."

His wages with the Sox are $8,500.

"I married a Williamsport girl after the 1960 season and we have a home there," he said. "But now I'd just as soon move to Chicago if I can find work in the off season that pays enough."

Russell's Eye Injury Won't Danger Career

BOSTON (AP)—Bill Russell's basketball future has not been endangered by an accidental poke in the eye.

The Celtics center says he will play at least one more season and predicts, "We stand an excellent chance of keeping the title."

The center who has led Boston to eight National Basketball Association championships in nine years and was injured when the Celtics missed the top prize in 1958 has been ordered to rest.

Dr. Baruch Sachs prescribed the precautionary inactivity so that Russell's right eye can be observed and hemorrhaging will not resume back of the eye. The injury occurred in the second quarter of the 129-96 title game triumph over Los Angeles Sunday.

Russell must remain at home and cannot participate in the downtown motorcade honoring the team today or tonight's annual dinner labeled the Celtics' "breakup"—a word they allow themselves, but a deed NBA rivals have failed to accomplish in seven years.

Russell says he can't tell how much longer he'll play pro ball but adds: "I'm coming back next year. As far as my eye is concerned, I have no fear that there is anything permanently wrong with it."

Russell calls the current Celtics "the greatest team we've ever had."

Russell is quick to absolve Laker Jerry West of blame for the eye incident Sunday but admits afterward, "I couldn't see."

"We all try to watch our hands. It is one thing to win a game and quite another to hurt somebody."

"My vision straightened out after awhile."

that all officers have college degrees. He was retired as a captain last August after 20 years of duty.

The thought of this forced retirement gnawed away at Bill Flynn. It was partly responsible for his taking a whirl at baseball with players half his age and not much older than his 15-year-old son.

"I guess I went out for the team to prove I still had the capacity to perform physically with younger people, as well as the mental capacity to stay with them in class," Flynn said.

Neither the class work nor baseball has come easy, but Flynn is enjoying the challenge.

Flynn is majoring in business education, with his future set on a teaching career. He wants to minor in history.

During the Christmas vacation, Flynn began thinking of a baseball comeback. He had played the sport in high school at Easton, Pa., and for 14 years in the Army—where he also managed teams for nine seasons.

"I talked it over with the varsity coach, Jack Jackson, and he sort of chuckled," Flynn said. "But after pumping me with questions, he found out I knew a little bit about the game."

Flynn's wife, Marjorie, who has resumed her elementary school teaching career while Bill goes to college, and who is expecting in June, didn't object.

"After laying off from baseball for about three years, I had trouble getting into shape," Flynn said, "and the day after a game, I knew I had been in one."

Flynn, a left-handed batter, has collected four hits in 12 tries for the frosh while playing first or second base. He also helps direct the squad when Coach Whitey Stevens goes on the road with the varsity.

Sport Shorties

The Boston Red Sox accounted for eight of the American League's 29 grand slam home runs during the 1964 season, more than any other club.

Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of the New York Yankees are the only active American Leaguers to have hit 50 or more home runs in a single season.

Tigers Open Series With Dean Chance

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers open a two-game series with the Los Angeles Angels and the remarkable Dean Chance, among others, tonight.

Detroit's big hope is for a sweep that might elevate the Tigers back to first place in the American League.

Chance, the AL's best pitcher last year and now known as a "Yankee killer" because of his handling of the New York Yankees, won't face the Tigers until Wednesday night.

For tonight's contest the starters are to be Mickey Lolich for the Tigers and Fred Newman for the Angels, each seeking his second victory in three games.

This is the second time Detroit and Los Angeles have met in the young season and the meeting will duplicate the importance of the first series on the West Coast.

In the Coast series the Angels checked the Tigers on their fast start, taking two of the three games.

Newman and Lolich figured in vital roles at the time. The two were among the league's best as rookies last year and have substantiated their young reputations so far this season.

With six victories against three losses, the Tigers are in third place a half game from first place and the same distance from second place.

The percentages keep the Minnesota Twins in first with their 6-2 record while the Chicago White Sox rank second with 7-3.

Fans will watch tonight whether interim manager Bob Swift makes a starter of slugging Gates Brown in left field in view of his showing against the Twins in the recent series.

Still pending, too, is catcher Bill Freehan's final decision on when he'll return to work. The young first string receiver shied away from a chance of starting before this although the docs say his back trouble is cured.

against tiny impurities in gasoline

(before they get to your tank!)

Most gasolines are clean when they leave the refinery. But on the way to your car—in transit and in storage—they pick up impurities that could choke off power, reduce engine efficiency...could even stop you cold. Automotive engineers asked for an answer to this problem—American Oil Research developed the American FINAL/FILTER. It guards against tiny impurities (present in all gasolines) right at the pump nozzle. If you depend on your car for your livelihood (and even if you don't) it pays to "fill 'er up filtered" with American, Regular or American Super-Premium.

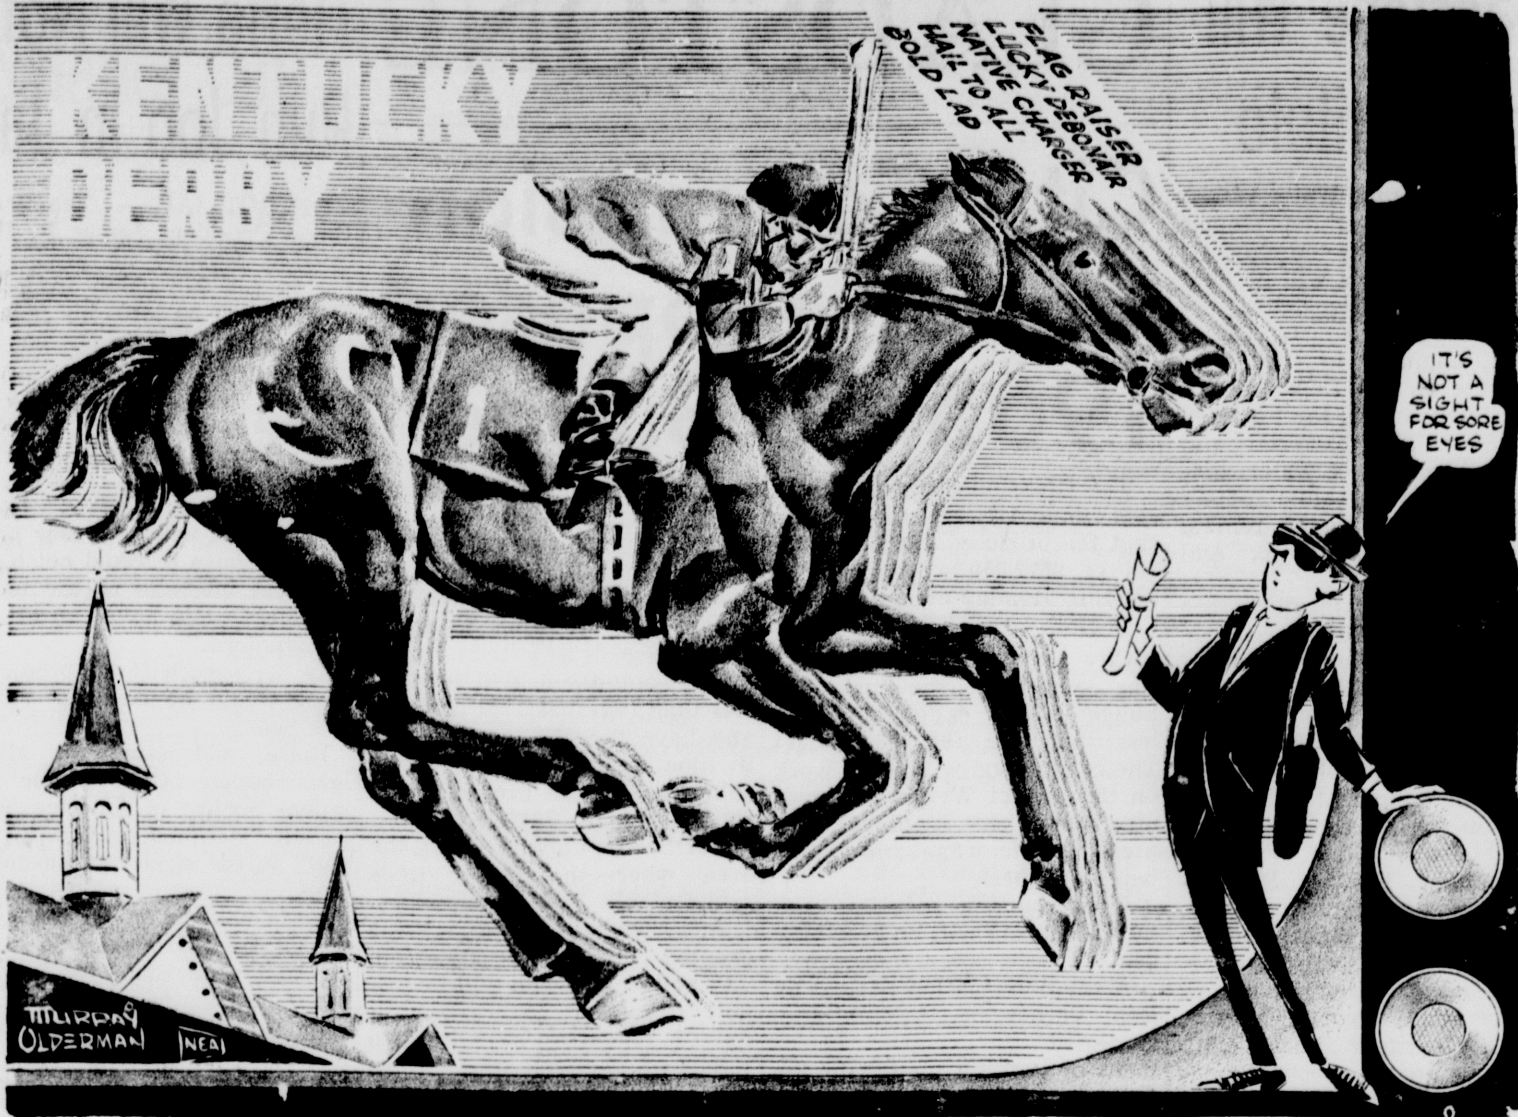

You expect more from Standard and you get it!

By The Associated Press The Philadelphia Phillies finally have caught up with Sandy Koufax. But the National League still hasn't caught up with Dave Giusti.

The Dodgers and Phillies tangled in the only other game scheduled in the majors, with Koufax going for his 10th straight victory against Philadelphia.

But the Phillies, triggered by Johnny Callison's homer, jumped on the ace Dodger left-hander for three runs in the first inning and that was it.

There was no indication that Koufax had suffered any recurrence of the arthritic condition that has troubled him this season.

After Callison's homer with one out, Richie Allen singled and Dick Stuart drove him in with a double. Stuart scored

GLADSTONE City Commission Adopts Proposed 1965-66 Budget

The Gladstone City Commission adopted a resolution to accept the proposed 1965-66 budget of $672,250 at its regular meeting Monday evening at the City Hall.

City Manager H. J. Hanrikson submitted the proposed budget which called for $400 less than the 1964-65 budget. The commission will begin work on the budget Wednesday evening when city employees will present their wage and fringe benefit request.

Final budget meeting and public hearing will be held May 24.

A small delegation headed by Paul Verhamme, Arcadia Inn, contested the proposed placement of parking meters in the 700 block of Delta Ave. Verhamme said that there was no parking problem in that block and meters would discourage shopping in Gladstone.

Commissioner George Youngs said the city's need for additional revenue prompted the commission's thinking on this proposed action since parking meter revenue is equal to approximately one mill in taxation.

The matter was referred to the Planning Commission.

Present Requests
Clifford D'Arcy, representing the Gladstone Yacht Club, requested permission to use the yacht harbor area for the club's annual celebration July 4-5. The commission granted the request.

Jack Kegel, representing Senior Citizens requested a small storage room adjoining their clubrooms in the City Hall basement be converted to a kitchen with a sink and shelving installed. Henriksen said he would check the area to see if it would be advisable to make this change.

Edward Canon asked the commission to have the parking restriction sign at the city limits removed and to have a sign placed on M-35 pointing to Fernwood Cemetery. The parking restriction sign will be removed, but permission from the State Highway Department is necessary to install a cemetery sign.

Robert Nicholas appeared to hear the findings on his previous request to have N. 15th St. resurfaced. Henriksen told him $4,500 has been appropriated in the proposed budget for resurfacing this area. This would be a "crowned" gravel road with shoulders which would help alleviate the drainage problem.

Consider Election
The city manager was given authority to appoint an election board for the nine-member charter revision commission election on June 3. Petitions

Hoffa Will Not Run Job In Jail

DETROIT (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa said Monday he would not try to run his union from behind bars if he loses his federal court appeals of felony convictions.

Hoffa made his remarks in response to a newsman's question after a speech by the Teamsters chief.

"If I lose the appeals," Hoffa said, "there will be a new president because it would not be in the best interests of the union members... (to have) an absentee landlord."

In his speech Hoffa predicted there would be no steel strike this year.

Hoffa, addressing the Michigan chapter of the Public Relations Society of America, said he felt "common sense will prevail" in the steel wage negotiations.

Hoffa said he would not have the information needed to make day-to-day decisions for the union if he goes to prison.

He said that he fully expected to be vindicated, however, in his appeals from various convictions.

The Teamster chieftain said he expected to remain as president of the 1.7-million member union for as far as he could see into the future, adding that he planned to be a candidate for reelection at the next convention in July 1966.

Boy Injured When Struck By Auto

James Canon, 3 1/2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Canon, 722 Minnesota Ave., received a broken arm when he was struck by a car driven by John C. Bevilacqua of Kingsford in the 700 block of Delta Ave., at 6:40 p.m. Monday.

The youngster darted into the path of the car from between two parked cars and was hospitalized for treatment, city police said.

Hurt On Bicycle

John Blair, 10-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Blair, 528 N. 11th St., sprained his ankle Sunday afternoon when his foot caught in the spokes of his bicycle and caused him to fall to the pavement at the underpass on M-35 about 2:30 p. m. John was going fishing and was carrying his pole and a can of worms when the accident happened. Gladstone City Police investigated and John was treated at a local clinic.

Top Ford Staff Salaries Cut

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP)—Nobody was surprised when Ford Motor Co. reported record first quarter earnings.

Business has been booming in the auto industry. Only last week Chrysler reported similar high marks in earnings, and General Motors is expected to do likewise within a few days.

American Motors' report is due the week of May 2 and in view of its faltering car sales the accounting may not be as rosy as the others.

The surprise in the Ford financial report Monday and the call for the annual stockholders meeting on May 20 was an announcement that compensation to its top executives was cut last year.

Drop Of $25,215

For example, Henry Ford II, board chairman, drew $540,000 in salary and supplemental compensation, a drop of $35,215 over his earnings.

His brothers, Benson and William Clay Ford, both Ford vice presidents, also were paid less.

Benson got $270,000, a drop of $20,000; William Clay got $101,382, a drop of $114,861.

The latter drew $115,000 in supplemental pay in 1963 but got nothing last year. Ford officials parried questions as to why he was omitted. Most observers believe that Ford, who bought the Detroit Lions Football Club, last year, probably worked out some kind of financial arrangement with the company to get money to help wrap up that deal.

The financial report showed that 5,751 employees shared in the 1964 distribution of $39.9 million in supplemental pay. For 1963, the comparable figures were 5,939 and $43.4 million.

Profits Set Record

In the financial report, chairman Ford and president Miller reported the company had a profit of $200.8 million, the largest single quarter in company history and equal to $1.81 cents a share. It compared with $144.3 million and $1.30 for the first three months last year.

Consolidated sales for the first quarter of 1965 were $2.9 billion, 21 per cent ahead of the $2.4 billion in the first quarter last year.

Factory sales of U.S.-Ford built vehicles totaled 807,576 units in the first quarter of 1965, about 21 per cent higher than the 668,662 vehicles sold in the comparable months last year. World-Wide sales of 1,192,825 vehicles were 19 per cent ahead of 1,001,393 sold in the first three months of 1964.

Ford's glowing first quarter report was much like that of Chrysler which last week reported record sales and a record-breaking $36.6 million profit for its first 1965 quarter.

Foresters Laud Lake States For Deer Management

Realistic hunting regulations which have permitted the better utilization of wildlife crops, in both Michigan and Wisconsin during the past several years, have gained the approval of members of the Wisconsin-Michigan Section of the Society of American Foresters.

At the section's meeting in Marquette over the weekend, the Lake States foresters gave full approval to a resolution which commended the conservation departments for liberalizing the harvest and better cropping of the deer herd in the two states.

This group of professional foresters, who are employed by public agencies, universities and private industries, gave their support to, and encouraged the continued efforts of managing the renewable resources of timber and game under a program which will assure sustained benefits for the citizens of Michigan and Wisconsin.

According to the opinions expressed by the foresters, a good crop of deer is closely related with favorable habitat and the availability of food on the deer range. The foresters contend that by following good management practices, together with adequately balanced deer populations, the deer food supply can be maintained, which will support a vigorous and healthy deer herd, thereby assuring success for the deer hunter.

Personal Income Up $102 In 1964

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's per capita personal income increased $102 during 1964. Only three states all in the Northern Plains farming area, showed declines.

The year's per capita figure was fixed at $2,550 by the Commerce Department.

The declines were in South Dakota, 7 per cent; North Dakota, less than 1 per cent; and Montana, 1 per cent.

The biggest increases were in Alaska at 10 per cent and Virginia and Maine at 7 per cent.

Targets Picked In Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top Air Force missile general says the United States has targets picked out in Red China and destroy key government, command and industrial centers in the event of a general war.

The officer, Maj. Gen. John P. Lavelle, indicated Peking's new nuclear facility was one of those targets.

Lavelle, a deputy chief of staff and director of aerospace programs, testified Feb. 23 on the Air Force budget at a closed hearing of a House Appropriations subcommittee. His censored testimony was made public Monday.

Industries Scattered

Lavelle said in reply to questions that the United States, if attacked, would have the capability of simultaneously hitting targets in Red China, the Soviet Union and "a satellite area."

He said the missiles would inflict what the Pentagon calls "unacceptably high levels of destruction."

However, he noted Red China's industry "is spread out in small factories everywhere and we would not have the same capacity with the Chinese industry."

But, Lavelle added, "our theater forces should be able to inflict an unacceptable level of destruction" on Red China.

He did not elaborate on what he meant by theater forces. Presumably he was referring to Air Force and other units in the Pacific area rather than to strategic missiles and bombers.

Some Key Areas

Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, D-Fla., an Army Reserve major general asked Lavelle, "What would you do to their ability to field and feed troops who would be expected to pour like ants all over Southeast Asia?"

Lavelle expressed the belief "we can take out their government, their command and control capability, which in Red China is pretty highly centralized."

Sikes reminded Lavelle that even though much of Red China's industry is scattered there are certain key areas.

Dr. Claud A. Bosworth

Achievers To Hear Bosworth

Escanaba's Future Unlimited banquet of its Junior Achievement groups will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, May 13 and addressed by Dr. Claud A. Bosworth, vice president, public service division, of Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

Dr. Bosworth is one of Michigan's leaders in youth work. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Western Michigan University and his master's degree in education and his Doctor of Philosophy degree in education from the University of Michigan.

He will bring to Escanaba's junior achievers a rich background in both teaching and vocational education. He was director of vocational and adult education in both Grand Haven and Muskegon. At Michigan State University he was head of the Department of Business and Industry, staff assistant to the dean of continuing education and head of the Department of Community Services.

He developed, in cooperation with community leaders, nationally recognized methods of compiling an inventory of community resources and to measure citizens' attitudes toward progress and is listed in Who's Who in American Education.

He has written many articles on community development, adult education, vocational education and industry.

Teachers Given Commendation By Chamber Group

"Teacher Career Month," is being observed in April by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Mae Frenn, chairman of the Chamber's Education Committee, said today, "The month has been set aside to give recognition to the contributions made by teachers in their communities across the nation. Teachers are an important segment of a community, taking part in many worthwhile projects, in addition to educating the future leaders of the nation," said Mrs. Frenn. "It is an honor to pay tribute to the teachers of Escanaba."

During the month of April, the Education Committee has sponsored the slogan, "Escanaba Honors Teachers" on the overhead sign at 23rd and Ludington Streets. Placards with the same wording are now appearing downtown business places calling the attention of the public to the many contributions in time and effort to their teaching efforts and community projects by the members of the teaching profession.

"The Education Committee is pleased to salute the teacher during Teacher Career Month," said Mrs. Frenn.

Stonington Man Killed As Truck Strikes Culvert

A 37-year-old Stonington father of nine who was returning home from his job with the Chicago and North Western railroad in Escanaba was killed at 5:50 a.m. today when his pickup truck ran off the Stonington Road almost directly across Little Bay de Noc from Escanaba and struck a drainage culvert.

Dead is Norman Roger Thorbjornsen, Rte. 2, Rapid River. State Police of the Gladstone Post said Thorbjornsen apparently died instantly in the crash.

Officers said Thorbjornsen's truck failed to negotiate a curve in the road, ran off the right side, struck the culvert and careened into a tree. The accident happened on Co. Rd. 513 (The Stonington Road)

Board Approves Purchase Of Two School Buses

The Escanaba Area Board of Education approved purchase of two 72-passenger "puller-type" buses under a replacement program option offered by McFadden Corp., Lansing, at a special meeting Monday night at the School Administration Building.

The Board agreed to purchase bodies for the buses under the plan, but voted to advertise for bids on the chassis.

Under the replacement plan for school buses offered by McFadden, the School Board has the option at the end of five years of trading in previously purchased buses on new ones. The program has saved considerable money for the school district in recent years.

ernment economists estimate as the annual increase in productivity per man-hour in industry as a whole.

Steel negotiators, until Monday had insisted productivity gains in the steel industry are only about 2 per cent and had refused to go higher.

"In achieving the 11.5 cent figure, we clearly broke the 2 per cent limit which the companies had placed on any economic settlement," McDonald said.

The four-month strike postponement also is expected to give time to settle the contest for the Steelworkers' presidency between McDonald and the union's secretary-treasurer, I. W. Abel.

Abel is expected to be declared winner of the Feb. 9 election within a few days and McDonald is expected to challenge the result, asking the Labor Department to investigate, and go to court to seek a new election under provisions of federal labor law.

Contractors Of U.P. Sign With Teamster Local

Teamsters Union Local 328, has consummated a new agreement with the Michigan Chapter of the Associated General Contractors' Association. The former Upper Peninsula General Contractors' Association was dissolved in February and contractors have designated the AGC for continuity of bargaining at an association level.

The settlement terms provide for a total package of 65¼ cents covering the next three years.

The hourly rate increase effective May 3 is 18c an hour. Health and welfare contribution for each employee is increased $2.80 weekly, making a total welfare contribution of $6.80 per employee. In addition to accident and medical benefits, vision and dental coverage will be provided. On April 1, 1966, the hourly rate will be increased by 17c an hour in addition to $1 a week increase in pension contribution.

On April 1, 1967, the hourly rate will be increased 17c an hour in addition to $1 per week per employee pension contribution, and 50c increase in the health and welfare fund payment. The weekly employer pension contribution per employee will then be $6, and health and welfare contribution per week for each employee $7.30.

The shift rate is 25c per hour above the classified rate.

The contract covers April 1, 1965, to March 30, 1968, and applies to all U. P. counties and several in northeastern Wisconsin in the jurisdiction of Local 328.

Chips And Splinters

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

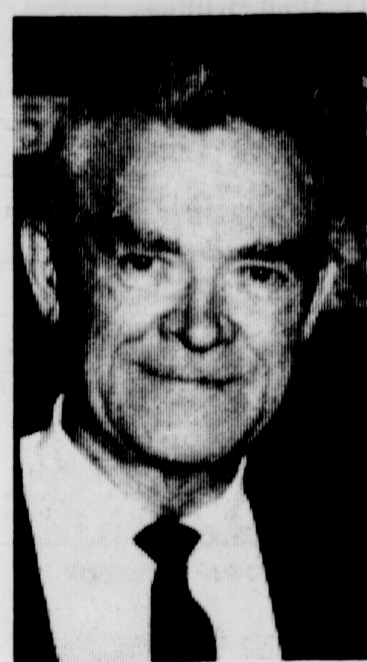

Carl W. Corneliuson of Ishpeming has been elected to the chairmanship of the Marquette County Board of Supervisors for the 14th time. The action continues in office one of the Upper Peninsula's best known public officials and one of its most effective ambassadors of good will.

The former Ishpeming baker—he succeeded his father in the business — has been retired for years and says that it is a great improvement on making zwiebach or kuchen. He picks berries, fishes trout, boils maple syrup, practices panegyrics on the delights of the Upper Peninsula and spreads good will deeper than the February snow south of Lake Superior.

HE HAS upturned eyebrows like the handlebars of humor itself and he raises them to express wonder at the goodness of the world every few minutes. He has developed a vocabulary of superlatives and he uses it constantly to describe the greatness of his friends and fellow Peninsulans and of the Peninsula itself. "Wonderful" is his favorite expression and if he had invented it he couldn't be fonder of it nor use it more often.

He is as familiar with a poker hand as with the tax tables and relishes them both.

RECENTLY he accompanied a group of civilians from K. I.

Carl Corneliuson

Sawyer Air Force Base to Barksdale AF Base, Louisiana and at the officers club there he responded for the Upper Peninsula group to some friendly greetings from Lieut. Gen. David Wade, commander of the 2nd Air Force.

Carl Charmed the ladies with a Norsk adulation that made the familiar magnolia and moonlight stuff of Dixie seem strictly bayou. And then he said "It is unusual for me to be among people that speak with such an accent!"

The laughter rippled beyond Shreveport. You can scale a herring and dress a deer with Carl's accent, but it's not "you-all."

In Viet Nam, 10,000 tribesmen have been trained and armed by the U. S. Army Special Forces.

Pearl Returns

NEW YORK (AP) — Ailing singer Pearl Bailey, who was hospitalized with heart palpitations last Thursday, returned to the night club circuit Monday night. She collapsed from fatigue after the first show but bounced right back for an hour-long second show.

Hospital

Nick Bink, 424 S. 11th St., president and general manager of the Coca Cola Bottling Co., was admitted to St. Francis Hospital yesterday for surgery. His condition is reported as good.
